When he first started painting, Pollock painted objects as they appeared. However, he is famous for going on to create a whole new movement – Abstract Expressionism. Pieces such as those opposite were created in his 'poured' period. Pollock dripped paint on to a canvas in a horizontal frame to convey the emotion of movement.

He is known for such sculptures as The Thinker, Monument to Balzac, The Kiss, The Burghers of Calais, and The Gates of Hell. Many of Rodin's most notable sculptures were criticized, as they clashed with predominant figurative sculpture traditions in which works were decorative, formulaic, or highly thematic. Rodin's most original work departed from traditional themes of mythology and allegory.
